

News Release

TBG FINANCIAL PROVIDES PERSONAL RATE OF RETURN ANALYTICS POWERED BY DAILYVEST

Built-in Engine Provides Continuous Analysis of Personal Investment Performance

TUCSON, ARIZONA – March 23, 2005 – dailyVest, the leading provider of personal rate of return calculation technology for account access websites and investor statements, today announced that TBG Financial, a premier provider of customized nonqualified deferred compensation plans for twenty-three years, has integrated the dailyVest product into TBG’s plan participant account access website.

“TBG is focused on providing a state-of-the-art online experience to the tens of thousands of plan participants we serve. The dailyVest tool gives our participants an important edge in managing their investments with its flexible, powerful personal rate of return analysis,” said Howard Wilson, TBG’s executive vice president and chief operating officer.

Peter McNellis, dailyVest’s executive vice president noted, "We are pleased that TBG is using our technology to provide interactive personal rate of return analysis for their plan participants. Individuals need to know how well their deferred compensation investments are performing at all levels -- fund, plan and multiple-plan -- and dailyVest makes that analysis automatic and ongoing. TBG is a forward-thinking organization that recognizes how to encourage participation.”

dailyVest’s personal rate of return technology is an installed software product operating completely within a client’s data center, and securely behind its firewall. The product is an XML Web Services-based performance calculation engine offering real-time analysis and reporting with a high degree of accuracy, speed, and programmatic ease.

About TBG Financial

Founded in 1982, TBG Financial (“TBG”) is a leading national full-service executive benefit consulting firm specializing in the design, informal funding, communication, implementation, and administration of nonqualified deferred compensation plans. TBG administers billions in plan assets for a Fortune 1000 client base representing hundreds of plans and tens of thousands of participants. For more information, visit www.tbgfinancial.com.

About dailyVest

dailyVest, The Personal Rate of Return Company focuses on helping financial institutions leverage their investor’s account history through the use of engaging and interactive tools for displaying performance measurement on account access websites and statements. For more information, visit dailyVest at www.dailyvest.com.